	"The early Russian missionaries ...are remembered not only for their pastoral labors, but for their contributions in the fields of science, navigation, language, medicine, etc. While the Church in Alaska today need not address itself to all of these particular areas, the School recognizes a responsibility to produce trained and educated leadership at every level of the life of our Orthodox people here. Thus, besides that portion of the curriculum designed to train readers and priests, there must be opportunity for our students to gain knowledge in counseling, administration, music, etc." Fr. Notes	Sunday	Monday	Tuesday
	"We have to understand the responsibility of the Orthodox in America and to know what the Church really needs. What we need is not only to have a modest theological school - a professional training school in which some few are educated for the ministry to carry on routine work and conduct services. We need a school of prophets who would have a spiritual and intellectual strength, able and desirous of going into the world to carry with them the true knowledge, and the .true understanding. Of course, it is a tremendous task.... St. Vladimir's Seminary is not a proud institution. We are aware of our weakness and limitation. Yet we cannot escape our responsibility and our duty." Father Georges Florovsky (+1979), St. Vladimir's Seminary,1949 Faculty member 1948-55, Dean 1950-55
