The Seminary Mission

St. Herman Orthodox Theological Seminary exists to proclaim the universal doctrine of the ancient, undivided Christian Church. A common image of the Church is that of a hospital. The Church offers spiritual health to Her members, true wholeness to the human person. Orthodox Christianity recognizes that health is the proper relationship, the communion of man with God and with his fellowmen according to Orthodox Christian tradition. If the Church can be described as a hospital, the Seminary can be likened to a clinic, training men and women as technicians in the therapeutic science of theology. The Holy Church Fathers regarded theology as the science of sciences, for it is the teaching of the Church about spiritual health and the discipline that cures the whole person, soul and body. This is not a philosophy, but a way of life, an applied theology.

The Seminary fulfills its most basic purpose, remaining true to its historic missionary heritage. The Seminary strives to continue the heroic educational and evangelistic work begun by SS. Herman, Innocent, Jacob, and the host of dedicated clergy and laity who struggled to increase the presence of Holy Orthodoxy in the Diocese of Sitka, Anchorage, and Alaska. These holy examples are heralded in hymnography as unmercenary physicians.

Objectives

The primary objective of the Seminary remains the education and, as God wills, the ordination of spiritually mature Orthodox Christian men to the Holy Diaconate and Priesthood. The Seminary also provides the theological, liturgical, and moral foundations necessary for the nurturing of various other vocations. The Church in Alaska hopes to maintain a full complement of indigenous clergy and laity. Therefore, the Seminary curriculum is arranged to prepare readers and catechists, religious educators and counselors, as well as deacons and priests.

Objectives specific to St. Herman Seminary are:

- To prepare worthy candidates for the Holy Priesthood and Diaconate of the Orthodox Christian Church.
- To train students to assume the responsibilities of a church reader who can lead services in the absence of clergy.
- To prepare worthy candidates for positions of leadership, such as religious educators, in their worship communities.
- To prepare certified substance abuse counselors for service to their communities.

These objectives are met through a four-year diploma program in which a theological education is provided in residence. Additionally, after graduation a fifth-year internship is required. The Seminary internship pairs the graduate with an experienced diocesan pastor in a mentoring relationship. Gaining crucial experience, the graduate is able to enhance the quality of his spiritual, moral, educational, and social values in their communities.

Formational Philosophy

Preparation for service to the Church, as clergy or laity, requires students to live fundamentally as Orthodox Christians. Mankind is created by God. Therefore the height of humanity is achieved through communion with God. Knowledge of God is revealed in prayerful study of the Faith and a life of active virtue. Students must demonstrate godly attributes: humility, patience, devotion, piety, and charity. Seminary life provides ample opportunity to develop these virtues, so that the vision and values of Orthodox Christianity are not only the subject matter of course work, but increasingly a way of life. The Seminary trains its students in this practical theology.

St. Herman Seminary is committed to an understanding of theological education that includes all aspects of the person. The person possesses infinite value, being created in the image and likeness of God. St. Irenaeus wrote, "The glory of God is a human being who is fully alive, and the life of such a person consists in beholding God." Worship is therefore at the very heart of Orthodox Christians' being and life, especially for those called to teach and preach. Active participation in daily worship is integral to the Orthodox Christian worldview. Students should not only understand but delight in the liturgical life of the Church. Students preparing for service to the Church are held to the same ecclesiastical regulations, moral standards, and models of behavior as are expected of those ordained in the Church.

As a missionary institution of the Diocese of Alaska, the Seminary is intensely interested and committed to enhancing and strengthening Native Alaskan languages and cultures, particularly as play a role in the expression and propagation of Holy Orthodoxy. The Seminary fulfills the commission of the Church to be incarnational, bearing the Gospel of Jesus Christ to all people. The Seminary faculty encourages research projects and programs in the field of Alaskan Native culture embracing the Church.

The Seminary is aware of, and committed to combating the various social problems that plague society, and Alaskan communities in particular. Valuing personhood as a unity of soul and body, the Church is concerned with the health and eternal salvation of the whole person. Courses in counseling disciplines, together with discussion, lectures, and seminars relating to public health and social policy, constitute another element of the Seminary curriculum.

The Seminary provides an education not only to those preparing for ministry, but also the Seminary nurtures the students' entire families in residence. While students receive their education, their families must be supported. By fostering the families' wellness and wholeness, the Seminary improves the quality of student life and of the students' future ministry. The Seminary is aware of the place family holds. Familial themes pervade the letters of St. Paul. Scriptures also attests that Christians are bound together as members of one Body. The Seminary strives to fulfill this calling.

St. Tikhon's Orthodox Theological Seminary is an academic and religious community with a scriptural mandate, a theological vision, a guiding mission, a pastoral and teaching vocation:

- Centered on Christ - the Teacher, Redeemer, and Savior of the World;
- Grounded in the patristic tradition of the Orthodox Church;
- Engaged in prayer, worship, and theological reflection;
- Committed to the personal, spiritual, academic, and priestly formation of future leaders and servants of the Church;
- Focused on teaching and learning Orthodox theology as revealed by the Scriptures and interpreted by the Holy Fathers;
- Dedicated to the pursuit of authentic spirituality and academic excellence;
- Inspired and empowered by a unified theological vision

"FOR THE LIFE OF THE WORLD AND ITS SALVATION."

Founded as a Pastoral School by resolution of the 6th (1937) All-American Sobor, St. Tikhon's Seminary is a vibrant and integral part of the Orthodox Church in America, continuing to this day to fulfill its assigned task of educating and preparing candidates for the Holy Priesthood, as well as those pursuing other callings in the Church. Officially transformed from a Pastoral School into a Seminary by the Great Council of Bishops in 1942, the Seminary has visibly progressed along the educational path determined by its founders.

In 1967, the Seminary was chartered as a theological school by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and a formal baccalaureate credit transfer agreement with Marywood College (now Marywood University), in nearby Scranton, was signed in 1975. In 1988, the Seminary was authorized by the Pennsylvania Dept. of Education to award the Master of Divinity (M.Div.) degree to its graduates, and the first M.Div. degrees were conferred on the graduating class of 1989. St. Tikhon's Seminary, with its M.Div. program, was granted full accreditation by the Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada in June 2004. As an integral part of the Seminary's theological mission and outreach, St. Tikhon's Seminary Press has extended the missionary and teaching activities of the Seminary community by making available a range of theological and liturgical works and texts for the general advancement of Orthodox theological knowledge and scholarship.

Recognizing that theological studies are rooted in the human soul and its relationship with God, the Seminary's alumni - several hundred bishops, priests, monks, choir directors, and lay ministers - strive to fulfill the evangelical command, "Come and follow Me and I will make you fishers of men....Go into the world, preach, teach and baptize in the Name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit."

The Seminary has become a genuine center of theological and spiritual enrichment in North America, playing a unique role in the preparation of candidates for the Holy Priesthood and other ministries vital to the ongoing life and growth of the Orthodox Church in North America. In its symbiotic relationship with St. Tikhon's Monastery, St. Tikhon's Seminary nurtures the theological vocations of its students and faculty, who share the unique opportunity of teaching and learning Orthodox theology in the framework of their daily experience of a rich spiritual and liturgical tradition.

St. Vladimir's Seminary is chartered and approved by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York and is accredited by the Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada.

Located in Crestwood, NY, only 30 minutes north of the cultural and educational resources of New York City, the seminary's 12-acre campus includes a chapel, classroom buildings, library, administrative and faculty offices, bookstore, dormitories, and refectory. Homes for faculty and staff on or near the campus contribute to the strong sense of community.

From its establishment in 1938, St. Vladimir's Seminary was mandated to stand as an academy in the Russian Orthodox tradition. Theology at St Vladimir's Seminary has always been understood as the foundation for the life of the Church as a whole, rather than the exclusive domain of the clergy. During its first decades, the seminary faced the task of providing an educated clergy. As its resources expanded, the seminary broadened the diversity of its programs and outreach, making it an internationally recognized center for Orthodox Christian theological, educational, and musical training, spiritual nurture, and ecumenical dialogue.

Through its publications and bookstore, St. Vladimir's Seminary has introduced countless individuals throughout the world to the Orthodox Church. In the year 2008, St Vladimir's Seminary Press will produce its 300th publication.

St. Vladimir's has always been recognized for its distinguished faculty. The writings of such renowned faculty members as Georges Florovsky, George Fedotov, Nicholas Arseniev, Nicholas Lossky, Alexander Schmemmann, and John Meyendorff have been published in numerous languages. The current faculty maintains the seminary's commitment to academic excellence and Christian witness.

Located in the John G. Rangos Family Foundation Building, the library holdings include 136,000 volumes and over 350 periodicals. The Rangos Building, dedicated in May 2002, also houses administrative offices and the Metropolitan Philip Auditorium.

St. Vladimir's has served as a forum for inter-Orthodox cooperation and unity, as reflected not only in its faculty and Board of Trustees, which include bishops of the major Orthodox Churches in North America, but also among its graduates and present student body. Alumni include 30 bishops and over 700 clergy. Countless lay graduates teach in institutions of higher learning or are engaged in other forms of ministry. Non-Orthodox graduates are active in their own communities as competent spokespersons for the position of the Orthodox Church.

Official Announcement of the 15th All-American Council.

October 25, 2007

Beloved Clergy, Monastics and Faithful,

It is with great joy and anticipation that I announce that the Fifteenth All-American Council of the Orthodox Church in America will be convened in Pittsburgh, PA on November 10-13, 2008. Delegates and observers from throughout our Church will be given the opportunity to participate in the four key components of an All-American Council: Worship, Fellowship, Learning and Decision-making.

Under the guidance of His Grace, Bishop NIKON of Boston, Chairman of the Preconciliar Commission, the members of the Preconciliar Commission will be working to set a theme, an agenda and a format which will encourage active participation by the parish delegates and observers in a way that will benefit the parishes that they have been chosen to represent.

Parishes will begin to receive resource materials later in this year to assist in their preparation for the All-American Council. These mailings will include documents that will focus on the topics that will be discussed at the Council. Parishes are asked to begin the delegate selection process in a timely manner so that their elected delegates may prepare themselves for significant and meaningful participation in the Council. Election of parish delegates is to be in conformity with The Statue of the Orthodox Church in America, Article III, Section 6.

The Fifteenth All American Council will take place at the Hilton Hotel, currently undergoing extensive renovations. The first Plenary Session will begin in the morning of Tuesday, November 10, 2008. We have made arrangements with the hotel to honor conference rates for three days before and three days after the Council to any delegates interested in extending their stay.

It is my sincere prayer that the Holy Spirit will continue to inspire and guide us as we prepare ourselves, corporately and personally, for this significant event in the life of Christ's Holy Church in North America.

With love in Christ,

Hotel Reservations
now open for the 15th
All-American Council

Room reservations at the Hilton Pittsburgh, site of the OCA's 15th All-American Council, November 10 to 13, 2008, are now open to AAC delegates and observers at a special conference rate of $129.00 plus tax per night. This special group rate is extended by the Hilton three days before and after the Council dates, but is subject to availability.

Reservations can be made the following ways:

1. Internet: A personalized webpage has been created for the Orthodox Church in America to aid in making reservations and can be accessed here. Alternately, refer to www.hilton.com or www.pittsburgh.hilton.com, and enter the group code (ODX) into the Group/Convention Code field.
2. Telephone: Call 1-800-HILTONS and ask for group code ODX.

The deadline for hotel reservations is October 20, 2008; however, this cut off date is based on availability. A limited room block has been reserved and it is suggested that delegates and observers make their reservations early.

If there are any problems making reservations, the Hilton Pittsburgh may be contacted directly at 1-412-391-4600.

Since Australia does not form a part of the territory of any autocephalous Orthodox Church, and out of concern for the spiritual welfare of several isolated communities of Orthodox Christians, the Holy Synod of Bishops has extended its canonical protection to these communities until such time as church life in Australia is regularized in accordance with canon law.
