

Stichera on "Lord, I Call"

The 42 Martyrs of Ammoria in Phrygia - March 6

Sticheron 1
Tone 4

Kievan Chant
arr. from B. Ledkovsky

Soprano
Alto

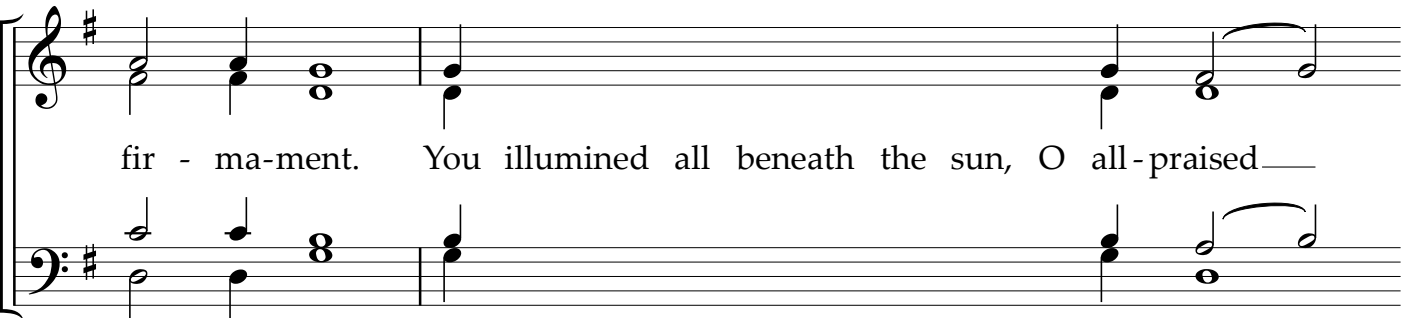

Noble and vic - to - ri - ous mar - tyrs, you were re - vealed

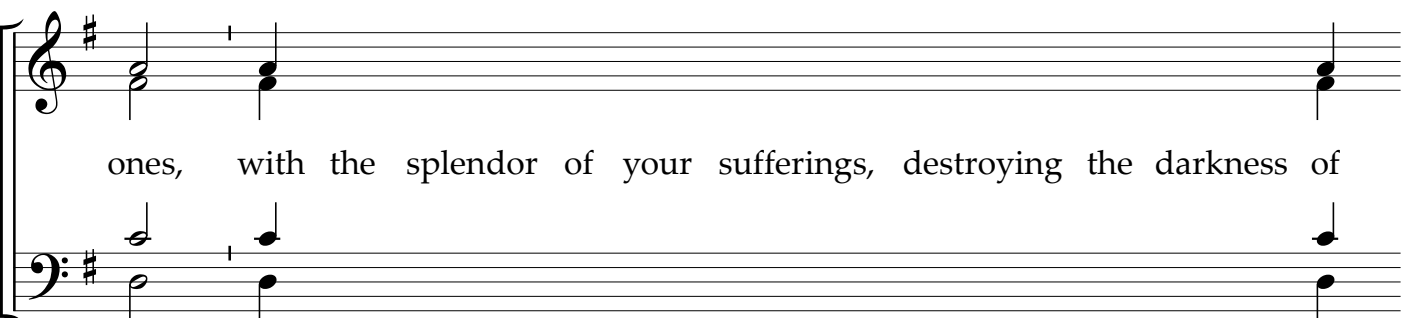

Tenor
Bass

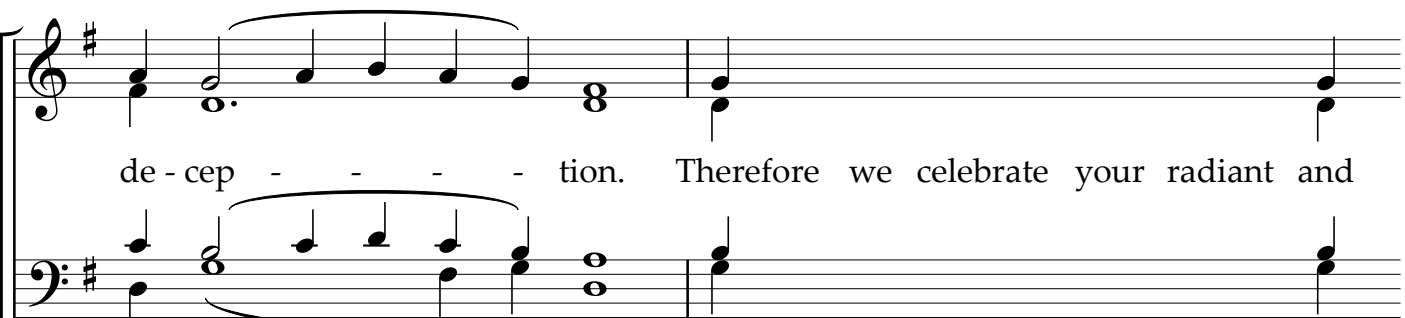

in the fi - nal times as un - wan - ing stars in the Church's honored fir - ma - ment. You illumined all beneath the sun, O all - praised — ones, with the splendor of your sufferings, destroying the darkness of de - cep - - - - tion. Therefore we celebrate your radiant and sa - cred suf - fer - ing in faith, // enriched by your in - ter - ces - - - sion.

Sticheron 2

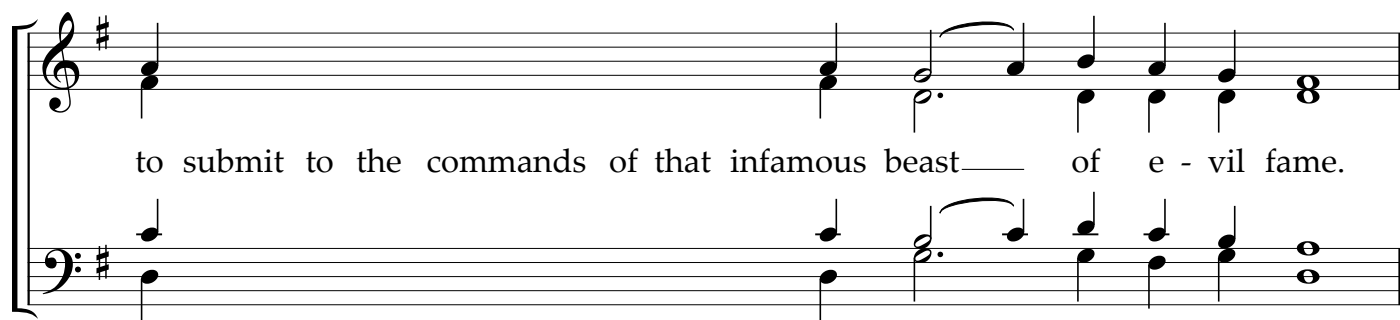

Soprano
Alto

All-glorious two and forty mar - tyrs of Christ, you were bound

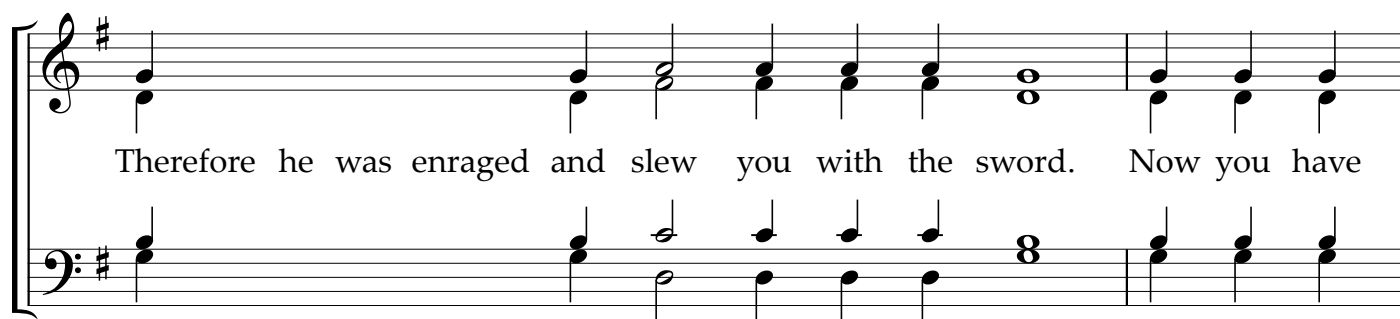

Tenor

af - ter a sum - ma - ry ar - rest and shut up in prison for a length - y time. You were divine pre - serv - ers of the faith, who re - fused to submit to the commands of that infamous beast of e - vil fame.

Therefore he was enraged and slew you with the sword. Now you have joyfully inherited high - er things, // joining yourselves to the heav - en - ly

King - - - - - dom.

Sticheron 3

Soprano
Alto

Tenor
Bass

Let us shout the praise of Con - stan - tine, Ba - so - es and Callistus, Theodore and The - oph - il - us, and the rest of the divine company of ath - letes, for they sacrificed them - selves with joy, electing to die for the Life of all. Now they rest in the city of the liv - ing God, entreating that on the day of judg - ment, // we may find remission of sins and com-plete— de - liv - er - ance.
