After He was co - vered by di - vine dark - ness,

Mo - ses the slow of speech proclaimed the divinely writ - ten law.

After he puri - fied the eye of his mind, he be - held the "I AM" and was taught the knowledge of the Spir - it,

whom he honored in di - vine - ly in - spir'd song.

Refrain

Glo - ry to You, our God, glo - ry to You!

On - ly the Pray'r of the Prophetess Han - nah un - sealed the bonds of the bar - ren womb, and stilled the unbearable taunts of the fer - tile wo - man; for she offered up a bro - ken spir - it to the Lord, the God_____ of know - ledge.

Refrain

Glo - ry to You, our God, glo - ry to You!

As a - tone - ment for us and sal - va - tion, O Christ,

You shown forth as Master from the Virg - in, to snatch

the fallen race of Adam from cor - rup - tion, like the Prophet Jonah from the bel - ly of the whale.

Refrain

Glo - ry to You, our God, glo - ry to You!

Horn and pipe and every kind of music raised the call to wor - ship a golden image with - out a soul, but the lightbearing grace of the Com - fort - er in - spires reverence in those who cry: "O Trinity, One in Might and without beginning, Bles - sed are You a - lone."

Refrain

Glo - ry to You, our God, glo - ry to You!

Re - joice, O Queen, glory of mothers and vir - gins,

no tongue, how - ev - er sweet or flu - ent,

is eloquent enough to praise you wor - thi - ly; Ev' - ry mind is overawed by your child - bear - ing. There-fore with one voice— we glo - ri - fy You.

Refrain

Glo - ry to You, our God, glo - ry to You!
