He, Who of old, spoke through symbols to Moses on Mount Sinai saying: “I am He Who is,” was transfigured today upon Mount Tabor before the Disciples. In His own person He showed them the nature of mankind arrayed in the original beauty of the Image. Calling Moses and Elijah to be witnesses of this surpassing grace,
He made them partakers of the gladness, foretelling His death on the Cross and His saving Resurrection.

v. The Heavens are Yours, the earth also is Yours; the world and all that is in it, You have founded them!

David, the ancestor of God, foresaw in the Spirit the sojourn with mankind of the only-begotten Son in the flesh, and from afar, called the creation together to rejoice with him, prophetically lifting up his voice to cry: "Tabor and Hermon shall rejoice in Your name!"

For You went up to this mountain with Your Disciples and were transfigured, O Christ, making the image that had grown dark in Adam to shine once again like lightning, and transforming it into the glory and splendor of Your own Divinity.
Therefore, we cry aloud to You: "O Lord and Creator of all things, glory to You!"

When the chosen Apostles beheld upon the mountain of the Transfiguration the overwhelming flood of Your light, O unoriginate Christ, and Your unapproachable Divinity, they were caught up in a divine trance. The cloud of light shone around them on ev’ry side. They heard the voice of the Father—confirming the mystery of Your incarnation, that even after taking flesh, You remain the only-begotten Son and the Savior of the world!

Today on Mount Tabor, O Lord,
You have shown the glory of Your divine form to Your chosen Disciples, Peter, James, and John.

For they looked upon Your garments that gleamed like the light and at Your face that shone more than the sun. Unable to endure the vision of Your brightness that none can bear, they
