Sticheron 1

arr. from B. Ledkovsky

Soprano
Alto

Tenor
Bass

Today God, Who rests upon the spir - it - ual thrones, has pre-pared for Himself a holy throne on earth. He, Who in wisdom established the heav - ens, has fashioned a living heaven in His love — for man - kind; for from a barren root He has made a life - bearing branch spring up for us, e-ven His Moth - er. O God of wonders and Hope of the hope - less, // O Lord, glo - ry to You!

[even His Mother.]

Sticheron 2

This is the day of the Lord! Re-joice, O peo - ples, for, be - hold, the bridal chamber of the Light, the book of the Word of Life, has come forth from the womb!

[The gate that faces . . .]

The gate that faces the East is born and a - waits the entry of the Great Priest. She alone admits Christ in - to the world // for the sal - va - tion of our souls.

Sticheron 3

Although by God's will other bar - ren wom - en have brought forth fa - mous off - spring, yet, of all those

children Mary shines most brightly, as is fit - ting to God.

For she herself was born wondrously of a bar-ren moth - er, and gave birth in the flesh to the God of all, in a manner surpassing nature, from a womb with - out seed. She is the only gateway of the only-begot - ten Son of [God, / Who passed through . . .]

God, Who passed through this gate yet kept it closed, and, hav - ing ordered all things in His own wis - dom, // has wrought sal - va - tion for all — man - kind.

Sticheron 4

Today the gates of barrenness are o - pened, and the virgin gate of God comes forth. To - day grace begins to [bear its first fruit,]

bear its first fruit, re-vealing to the world the Moth - er of God. Through her things on earth are joined with the heav - ens // for the sal - va - tion of our souls.

Sticheron 5

Today is the prelude of u - ni - ver - sal joy; to - day

[the winds blow that . . .]

the winds blow that herald sal - va - tion, and the barrenness of our na - ture is dis - pelled; for the bar - ren woman is revealed as the moth - er of her who re - mained a vir - gin af - ter giv - ing birth to the Cre - a - tor. From her the One Who is God by [nature / takes what is ...]

na - ture takes what is foreign to Him and makes it His own, and works sal - vation through the flesh for those who have gone a - stray. // He is Christ, the Lover of man and the Re - deem - er of our souls.

Sticheron 6

Today the barren Anna gives birth to the hand - maid of [God, / who was chosen ...]

God, who was chosen from all gener - a - tions to be - come the a-bode of the King and Creator of all, Christ— our God in ful - fillment of the di - vine— plan. Through her we earth-born have been fash - ioned a - new // and re - stored from corruption to life e - ter - nal.
