

Metropolitan Tikhon delivers Sunday of Orthodoxy homily at Antiochian cathedral

BROOKLYN, NY – On the Sunday of Orthodoxy – March 5, 2017 – His Beatitude, Metropolitan Tikhon, delivered the homily at pan-Orthodox Vespers celebrated at the historic Saint Nicholas Antiochian Orthodox Cathedral, Brooklyn, NY, at the invitation of His Eminence, Metropolitan Joseph of the Antiochian Orthodox Christian Archdiocese of North America.

“Today’s commemoration – the restoration of the veneration of the holy icons – is truly a resurrectional feast, a paschal celebration and a source of encouragement for us in our Lenten struggles,” Metropolitan Tikhon said. “The Sunday of Orthodoxy, as many of us know, refers specifically to the historical events of the year 843, at which time the veneration of icons was restored in the Holy Church. The great event that we celebrate today was not a political victory. It was not simply the victory of one party, the iconophiles (or icon-lovers), over another party, the iconoclasts (or icon-smashers). Rather, it was a re-affirmation of the eternal victory of our Lord Jesus Christ over death and corruption. Hence, today’s feast is a proclamation of the victory of Pascha and of the reality of the resurrection in our lives, and this is an important message for us to remember and to share with the world around us.”
